M Group signs strategic cooperation agreement with Saur

Saur, a global provider of water and wastewater management services and technical innovation, and M Group, the leading provider of infrastructure services in the UK and Ireland, have signed a strategic agreement to explore mutually beneficial collaboration opportunities in the UK water sector.

Together, Saur and M Group will tackle the pressing challenges of the UK water industry and deliver smarter and more resilient infrastructure.

Saur and M Group will explore opportunities based on their joint expertise in the UK and across the world of delivering, maintaining, and operating network distribution, collection, and treatment assets. Using established, globally deployed digital technologies and proven proactive operations and maintenance approaches, the organisations will work collaboratively with clients to enhance water resources management and optimise water and wastewater asset performance.

This agreement represents a shared ambition to innovate with purpose. Several joint pilot projects are planned across the UK starting in 2025, with the goal of delivering measurable benefits for the water sector, local communities, and customers.

Iain Sutherland, Managing Director of M Group Water: "We can overcome some of society's biggest challenges through greater collaboration. By bringing together the best of M Group and Saur, we're even better placed to face into wider sector challenges to deliver an infrastructure that keeps our country running both now and in the future."

Luís de Lope, CEO of Saur International: "Working with M Group marks a strategic milestone in enhancing our capacity to address the infrastructure challenges of the future in the UK. By joining forces, Saur Group is laying the groundwork for more integrated, sustainable, and forward-thinking solutions, fully aligned with our shared development goals. We are confident that this collaboration will bring fresh perspectives and drive meaningful progress in tackling the evolving challenges of the water sector."
